Issue 40 2 – 8 October 2021

Just two issues to go! Yes, Super Soap Week is now so close you can practically hear the sirens, smell the leaking petrol and taste the tang of gunfire in the air. However, I'm horrified to learn that my fave soap family of the moment are to face mortal peril on the Weatherfield ring-road. Say it ain't so!

I love the Alahans because they seem so real. Sure, Jimmi Harkishin's performance can be eccentric, but that makes him all the more believable, because people are eccentric. And Dev's journey from Mr Loverman to weary father of teenagers is so funny and true.

"From Mr Loverman to weary father"

Parenting issues are high on the agenda this issue. My thoughts go to EastEnders' Sonia, who will soon discover not only that Rocky isn't her father, but he's some kind of brother to Nick Cotton, of all people. Silly Sonia. It's not even as if she needed a DNA test. She could have just texted a picture of Rocky to Carol. "Hey mum. Did Dad look like that Brian Conley from off the telly? x"

The livid nurse seeks to take control of David

Hot
THIS WEEK!

What does Mad Meena have up her sleeve?

“Hi, honey –
I’M HOME!”

EMMERDALE | ITV TUESDAY

DAVID IS TRAPPED AND ABUSED – AS HIS KILLER GIRLFRIEND TAKES CONTROL...

Mad Meena is home from Ibiza with a special holiday souvenir for David this week – and not the kind that you expect to find in Duty Free!

In a twisted bid to ensure that David remains under her control, the bonkers nurse insists on managing her boyfriend's care and medication as he recovers from being shot during the Hide siege. However, what Meena gives David is a prescription for cruelty, as she tampers with his pills and triggers terrifying flashbacks of his ordeal – all so he'll be too scared and incapacitated to leave her...

"It'll come as no surprise to viewers that Meena's capable of such savagery," frowns our Dales insider. "She's furious to have been inconvenienced by Manpreet's mercy mission to help her daughter, Aiesha, abroad – and raging to arrive home and to find Victoria seemingly moving in on her territory with injured David. He can forget his extra-strength painkillers, quite frankly, as Meena's about to serve up a double dose of trauma!"

MEENA AND MEANER

Prior to Meena's return, Priya and Jacob are concerned when David collapses after overdoing it –

"Meena's about to serve up a dose of trauma" prompting Priya to offer to move in with him. The next day, Meena arrives back from her trip to find some suitcases and a chef's hat stationed outside David's front door, and believing them to belong to Victoria, she prepares to throttle her love rival!

However, Meena's taken aback when Priya emerges from the house and squashes her theory that David and Vic have begun an affair in her absence.

Meanwhile, David suffers a terrifying flashback to the siege after young Carl King fires a cap gun in the village, and triggers some upsetting memories. Poor David is utterly traumatised, and it's as Victoria seeks to reassure him that the pair share a tender exchange – only for the moment to be shattered by seething Meena!

"Victoria is reminded once again by David's possessive girlfriend to stay away from her man," reveals our source. "Meena takes Victoria aside in order to forbid her from calling in to see David while he recovers at home, and there's no disputing her threatening tone. Victoria had better stay away, or else!"

TAKING CONTROL

Of course, what Meena doesn't know is that David has committed to making a go of their relationship, and has told Victoria that he doesn't love her. But, not realising this, Meena takes stock and decides that David needs to be put on a tighter leash, which is when her manipulation of him goes to new extremes...

FROM PREVIOUS PAGE

"David has been prescribed super-strong pain relief to ease his discomfort," explains our mole. "Meena, in her terrifying capacity as a nurse with zero regard for ethics, then insists upon administering David's meds. But what she does next is beyond cruel, as Meena swaps his pills for paracetamol, so that his pain intensifies. He's in total agony!"

Cruel Meena then encourages her boyfriend to relive the siege so that it'll trigger more anxiety – leaving David isolated and helpless, and totally reliant on her support.

Will anyone cotton on to what Meena is doing before David falls even deeper under her wicked spell?

Nina's fury knows no bounds

CORONATION STREET | ITV MONDAY

Nina plots her revenge!

HOW FAR WILL SHE GO TO MAKE COREY PAY FOR KILLING SEB?

The pain of seeing Seb's murderer Corey being hailed a football hero becomes too much for Nina this week – and she vows to kill him!

Since being acquitted of brutally attacking Seb, Corey's fortunes have gone from strength to strength, as he's promoted to Weatherfield County's top team. But after he plays his first match, smug Corey visits Seb's memorial garden – prompting Nina to plot a murder of her own...

"Talk about rubbing salt into the wound!" splutters our Weatherfield spy. "Corey has no reason to still be hanging around on Coronation Street, and the fact that he's returned to the place where his victim's loved ones live is just pure evil. Nina sees him laughing while he's on his phone, and she flies into a rage!"

Nina's already been trying her best to make everyone aware that County's new star player is nothing but a cold-blooded killer. As the week kicks off, she distributes home-made leaflets laying bare Corey's crimes, before taking to social media to brand him a murder. However, Corey still seems to come out smelling of roses.

Realising that she's played right into Corey's hands by giving him the chance to play the victim, Nina pledges to step up her game. Desperate to get the word out that Corey's a brute, Nina pleads with Daniel to run a story in the Gazette. And when that plan fails, Nina declares to Kevin she intends to kill Corey!

Worried about his niece, Roy sits Nina down to talk

"Nina sees evil Corey laughing and she just flies into a rage"

Seeing Corey in Seb's memorial garden is too much for the Street's residents

When Kevin shows Nina Corey's interview, she vows she'll get revenge for Seb

"You can't blame Nina for feeling this rage, but is an eye for an eye really the way to go?" ponders our mole. "Wiping out Corey may feel good in the short term, but it would make Nina no better than he is. Could she really live with herself if she were to do that?"

Nina's behaviour certainly gives Roy cause for concern, although she later tells her uncle that she intends to focus on her future rather than pursuing revenge.

So does Nina really mean what she's saying? Or is she secretly plotting to make vile Corey face retribution for killing Seb?

Sarah Ellis

"Kevin is putting himself at risk for Abi"

Corrie star Michael Le Vell lifts the lid on his character's desperate search...

Seeing Nina's fragile mental state renews Kevin's fears about Abi – and he vows to track her down! His search takes him to the Dog & Gun, where he meets Seb's dad, Tez, who swears that he hasn't seen or heard from Abi. But can Kevin really trust him? Corrie star Mike Le Vell tells us more...

Kevin takes some serious risks in order to find Abi

How has Kevin been coping since Abi left?

He is doing his best in a typical Kevin way, but he is quite desperate to find her because he doesn't want her to go back off the rails. That is the big concern for Kevin; and the longer he goes without seeing her, the more concerned he is getting.

What are his fears once he sees that Abi has taken money from their joint account?

The first thing he thinks is that she is spending it on drugs, and that is why he goes to the Dog & Gun – to find out if anyone has seen her and been supplying her with drugs.

Kevin sees Tez doing a drug deal, and tries to frame him. Isn't that a bit risky?

That is how much he cares for Abi; he's going into these dangerous situations to try to find her and bring her home. Kevin is not someone who has ever found himself in this dark underbelly of society, he is out of his comfort zone and putting himself at risk. He goes as far as videoing Tez and trying to blackmail him – risky!

Can Kevin forgive Abi?

Kevin would absolutely forgive her; he knows what she has done and why she ran away. He just wants her home safe, so they can try to rebuild what they have. His search for her is not for retribution, it's to rescue her and bring her home.

Do you still enjoy playing Kevin after all this time?

I love it, and long may it continue – I have been blessed with fantastic storylines. It has been incredibly busy, and I love that I get to work with the most amazing cast and crew. It's a team effort and I'm proud to be part of that.

Peter gets battered!

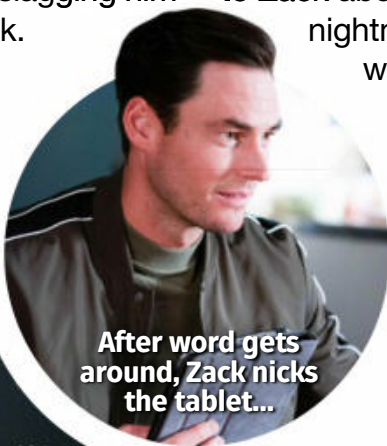

HE'S THROWING HIS WEIGHT AROUND...

There's discord in the Walford chippy this week, when Martin decides he's had it with Peter's bullying management techniques.

Ian's son has been busy lording it over Martin ever since he took him on at Beale's Plaice, and the fed-up bloke decides he has, well... other fish to fry.

He's incensed by Peter's heavy-handed management style and starts slagging him off to friend Zack.

But when Zack, in typical style, takes matters into his own hands, things reach boiling point.

After word gets around, Zack nicks the tablet...

...but will Martin pay the price for his best mate's prank?

"It looks as though the Beale genes didn't skip generations – Peter has gone full Ian!" laughs our insider.

"Like his father, Peter is about to be brought down a peg or two by those he's mistreating. He should just count himself lucky that Zack is taking it out on his tablet, not flushing his head down the toilet like Phil Mitchell once did to Ian."

Martin has been venting to Zack about what a nightmare Peter is to work for just as he appears. So, as Peter looks away, Zack swipes his work tablet.

Soon, the device is bubbling away in the deep fat fryer. When Peter finds it, quite literally battered, he goes mad. It's obvious that Zack and Martin are the culprits, and Peter is not amused. Will Martin live to regret his new best pal's antics, or can Beale the Younger see the funny side?

Suki & Honey confrontation FIGHT

HONEY AND JAY ARE ON

Honey finally plucks up the courage this week to tell Jay that Suki tried to kiss her – but her confession leads to two furious showdowns!

With boss Suki making her life hell at work, Honey is going to pieces. But when Jay discovers the real reason that Suki is behaving so appallingly, he lets rip – leading to a confrontation between him and Kheerat!

"Honey realises she's going to have to be upfront with Jay, because he knows that something is wrong," explains Emma Barton, who plays her. "She's been trying to protect everyone by keeping quiet, but one thing Honey doesn't do is lie. So she comes clean – and Jay

“She’s been trying to protect everyone, but Honey doesn’t lie”

& Kheerat me out HITTING!

THE RECEIVING END OF THEIR RAGE...

Kheerat doesn't believe Jay and it leads to fisticuffs takes matters into his own hands..."

Furious, Jay tells Kheerat what his mother has done; yet Kheerat doesn't believe a word and angrily slams Jay against a wall! It's a shocking display of violence, but the fisticuffs don't end there – and later, Kheerat confronts Honey to accuse her of making the whole thing up!

"Lying is probably one of the worst things Honey could be accused of," Emma tells us. "And she's really frightened of Kheerat – just like Suki, he's intense. Neither of them has to say much, but you still get the fear of god shot through you!"

Soon word reaches Suki that Honey has revealed the truth about their kiss, and she's mortified. However, rather than facing up to her own actions, Suki lashes out at Honey – and slaps her!

"I don't think Honey has been hit in her entire life!" gasps Emma. "That's not nice at all, and Honey is very upset. You just don't go around hitting people like that – and Honey decides that she won't stand for it!"

As Suki issues Honey with a shocking threat, what she doesn't expect is for her employee to bite back. So when Honey threatens to expose the truth behind Jag's death, Suki is absolutely gobsmacked!

Later, Honey tells Jay and Billy that she's been given the time off work to take Janet on a modelling trip to Miami, and it appears that giving Suki a taste of her own medicine may have worked wonders.

So has Suki really rolled over and agreed to Honey's demands? Or is she secretly cooking up another way to make her former friend's life a total misery?

Shocking scenes see the Alahans veer off course

SUPER SOAP WEEK REVEALED!

CORONATION STREET

Corrie plans to keep the shocks coming during Super Soap Week next month, as these new filming pictures reveal. Not content with plunging our Weatherfield favourites into a massive sinkhole drama at the Platts', bosses have orchestrated some thrilling scenes away from the cobbles too.

First up, it looks as though the Alahans will be left fighting for their lives, as these shocking images of their crashed and mangled car suggest.

A grim-faced Jimmi Harkishin (who plays Dev) was all business as he filmed the terrifying scenes in which the car that the Alahans are travelling in ends up in an horrific accident.

Co-stars Tanisha Gorey (Asha) and Adam Hussain (Aadi) were also on location to create the heart-stopping action, which promises to leave viewers on the edge of their seats.

"This is a terrible accident that leaves the Alahans fighting for survival," reveals our location spy. "It's not clear why the car veers off course, but by the appearance of the wreckage, they'll be lucky to get away with their lives!"

Will Asha walk away from the horrific accident?

TERROR CRASH FOR THE ALAHANS!

Will anyone escape the wreck alive?

Interestingly, Michael Le Vell, who plays mechanic Kevin, was caught on camera in his overalls, so he could play a part in any rescue attempt. And the story also appears to cross over with that of drug lord Harvey, who – rumour has it – will escape prison in order to seek revenge against poor Leanne.

However, for the time being, we'll have to keep our fingers crossed that all three Alahans live to fight another day.

Kevin was spotted – has he come to the rescue?

ABI: ARMED AND DANGEROUS!

There's a bullet with Corey's name on it...

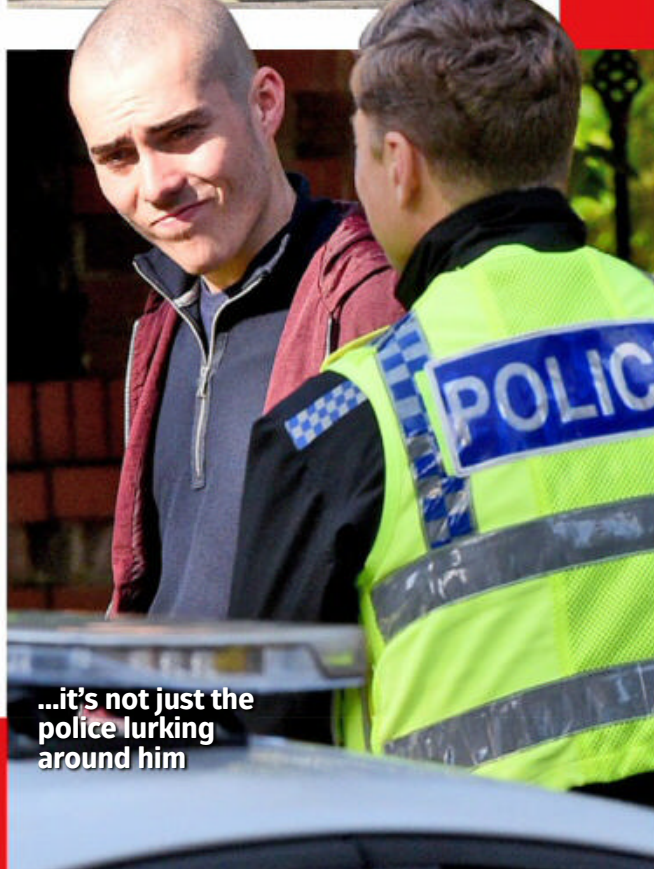

We all know that Abi is out for revenge against Seb's killer Corey – but our pictures show her literally gunning for him!

Co-stars Sally Carman (Abi) and Maximus Evans (Corey) filmed scenes that show her lying in wait outside an address with a gun in hand. Corey appears to be unaware that he's in the firing line as Abi bides her time from afar. Does she have it in her to pull the trigger?

"If you think you've seen out-of-control Abi, you haven't seen anything yet," Sally promised us during a recent interview. "She's being driven by a force she can't contain."

Corey may think he's safe for now, as the pictures also show the police parked outside his house – but are they there to protect him, or arrest him? And bear in mind that Abi isn't the only threat to killer Corey. As you'll have seen on p8, Nina is putting a revenge plan of her own in place.

Which woman is going to bring him down first?

WATERLOO ROAD

Exciting news for fans of Waterloo Road – the show is coming back after a six-year absence!

The action-packed school drama, which initially ran from 2006 to 2015, is returning to its roots by filming in Greater Manchester. BBC bosses have promised that the new series will explore the big issues facing teachers and students today.

"Waterloo Road is the perfect lens through which to explore post-Covid Britain, from the perspective of those who have arguably been affected most: young people in education," says Piers Wenger, the director of BBC Drama. "We're thrilled to be returning to this brilliant format – its thrills and spills, unmissable characters and high drama – at a time when audiences across Britain need it most."

Casting details are under wraps for now, but with many soap favourites having walked Waterloo Road's halls, there's bound to be some familiar faces. We can't wait to find out who's in charge and who'll be disrupting their classes!

Is the ghost of Nasty Nick returning to haunt the Square?

“Now viewers will find out who Rocky really is!”

EASTENDERS STAR BRIAN CONLEY SHARES HIS REACTION TO THAT SHOCK TWIST...

EASTENDERS | BBC1 TUESDAY

Our jaws hit the floor when we found out Walford wheeler-dealer Rocky isn't Sonia's dad at all – he's actually Dotty's uncle, Thomas Cotton, and they've teamed up to rip off Sonia!

This week, their scam is in danger of being rumbled when Dotty's mum Sandy turns up. Is the jig up for Rocky? Brian Conley, who plays him, tells us more...

We can't believe that Rocky is a Cotton! What was your reaction when you found out his true identity?

I was very aware when I started at EastEnders. I was fortunate enough to have it mapped out – we didn't have his name or things like that, but it was one of the reasons they always called me 'Rocky', otherwise it would have been confusing. For me, the hardest thing was keeping it secret; when I first came on, everyone was like, "oh you're Sonia's dad", and I just wanted to say, "Yeah, you just watch this space!" [Laughs].

How do you feel now that it's out there?

It's a relief that it's come out, I want the viewers all to know who he really is, and how the story will unfold. Rocky's always been charming, fun and nice, but there's never been more than that. So now to get this whirlwind of information as an audience, it'll be a treat to find out what he's doing; why he's resorted to this, why this thing has gone on for so long.

Has it been nice for you to show a different side to your character?

I've loved it. It's much harder to be jolly and bubbly and funny than it is to walk in with a big frown, start shouting and be all tough. For me, turning it on its head was really exciting. We kept it quiet, even to the crew, so there was a big intake of breath when we shot the scene at the station where Rocky says his name is Thomas Cotton.

What has the viewers' reaction been like so far?

It has come out of left-field for everyone – I hope it was a big surprise. That's what you need “Rocky has to play this game, but knows that he shouldn't...”

DOTTY'S MUM COULD CAUSE TROUBLE FOR HER AND ROCKY...

Dotty and Rocky's con is in danger of being exposed this week, when Dotty's mum Sandy arrives unannounced!

It quickly becomes clear that Sandy's not in a good way, as she's drinking, scoring drugs, and hurling abuse at her daughter. However, will she blow Rocky's cover?

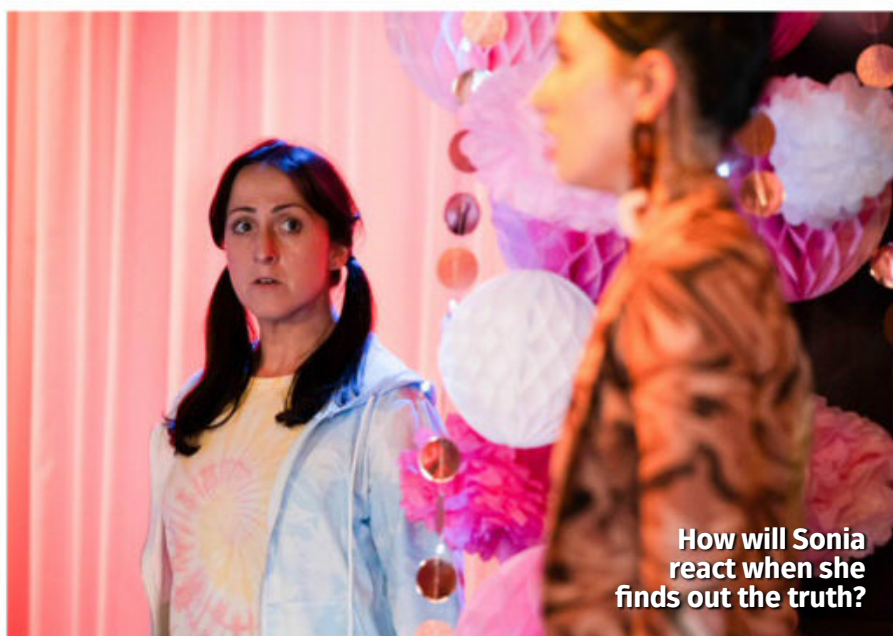

"Sandy sees the worst in everybody, so she'll know that there's something going on there," reckons EastEnders newcomer Martha Cope, who plays Sandy. "Rocky and Dotty are always trying to get something from someone, so Sandy is likely to sniff them out and realise something's afoot."

Dotty doesn't exactly welcome her mother back with open arms, and it's clear their relationship is strained, to say the least. So what has brought Sandy back to the Square?

"Deep down, she carries a lot of guilt for her dreadful mothering skills," Martha tells us. "But she has a motive for being there, and she's set out to get what she wants! She's going to cause some issues for Dotty..."

Sarah Ellis

in a soap, you need these moments where people go, "Oh, my God!" If you notice in my very first scene, Rocky comes out of the tube, and while he's in Ruby's telling this story, just behind him is Dotty – I thought that was really good. We're eight months down the line, but his first scene she was standing there. What a wonderful arc!

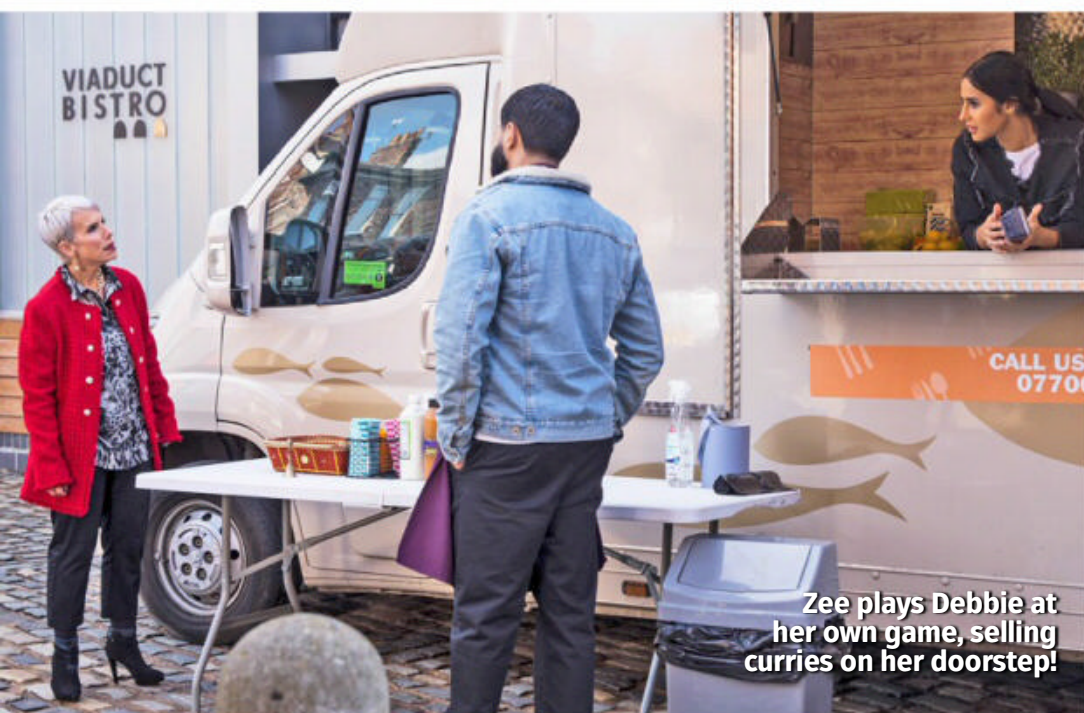

He's related to 'Nasty Nick' Cotton – could Tommy turn out to be just as wicked?

I don't think so, no. He's not a million miles away from what everyone sees; he's a bit of a wheeler dealer. I don't think he ever resorted to violence. I think he's cheeky; ducking, diving, bobbing, weaving – the cocky cockney. But as he goes on, he feels more strongly that this is his world and he doesn't want to give it up. He's frustrated with Dotty manipulating him. He has to play this game, but he knows he shouldn't. He's in too deep now...

Zeedan goes to WAR with Debbie!

Zeedan plays Debbie at her own game, selling curries on her doorstep!

IT'S TASTING MENUS AT DAWN AS SPEED DAAL AND THE BISTRO DO BATTLE...

CORONATION STREET | ITV FRIDAY

Debbie Webster has the audacity to try to nick business off restaurant rivals Speed Daal this week – sparking an all-out food war in Weatherfield!

It's after Zeedan comes up with the idea of a promotional tasting night to get more punters through the door of Speed Daal, that things get really tasty between the two local eateries. And when Zeedan realises what's happened, he's furious...

"Zeedan's only recently come back to Weatherfield, and he has no idea who Debbie is," points out our cobbles spy. "So there he is in the Rovers, casually chatting about his plans for Speed Daal – little realising that he's feeding all of his best ideas to the competition! When the penny drops that Debbie runs the Bistro, Zee feels like a fool for giving her the heads-up on Speed Daal's strategy."

But Zeedan isn't about to let a bit of healthy competition get in the way of his grand plans for the restaurant! He wants to make Speed Daal the premiere place to eat in Weatherfield, no matter the cost...

Alya's worried about how much her brother is spending on ingredients, and it seems she has good reason to be concerned. The bookings for the event aren't exactly flooding in, and Zeedan's forced to resort to dirty tactics as he heads out to try to drum up some trade.

All of a sudden, there's a surge in bookings, leaving the Nazirs delighted. But there's just one problem – their chef has called in sick, and there's no one to cook for all their hungry patrons!

Luckily, Zeedan is able to step into the breach; but as the night arrives, he's puzzled when the only person who turns up is a food critic! What's happened to their customers?

You can bet that Debbie has something to do with this!"

"You can bet your bottom dollar that Debbie Webster has something to do with this!" gasps our sneak. "However, she's underestimated Zee – and later, he returns to Speed Daal with a homeless man, and reveals that he's arranged for all their leftover food to be donated to vicar Billy's soup kitchen. Not only has Zeedan saved the day, but he's also got some great press for Speed Daal."

Debbie overhears Zee's masterplan

Zeedan isn't about to let Debbie get away with her sneaky games, either.

Alya is gobsmacked to hear that her brother has hired a food truck, which he plans to set up slap bang outside the Bistro to sell half-price curries! How will Debbie react once she realises that her rivals are just as willing to play dirty as she is?

Sarah Ellis

Zee feels like a fool for giving Debbie all his ideas

When none of the customers turn up, Zee quickly comes up with a new plan

TROUBLE-IN-LAW!

Zeedan's past catches up with him...

Debbie isn't the only enemy Zeedan finds himself up against this week – as his father-in-law Hashim rocks up unannounced in Weatherfield!

Zee is clearly spooked when he arrives at the restaurant to find his gran talking to Hashim. We already know that the reason Zeedan returned to the cobbles with no prior warning is because he'd left his new wife, and he confessed to his shocked relatives that her father was threatening to kill him...

So it's no wonder that Hashim's surprise arrival at the restaurant has Zeedan running scared. Soon, Hashim outlines exactly what he wants from his son-in-law – but is Zee willing to accept his punishment for messing with Hashim's family? And what will it mean for Zeedan's loved ones?

THE TRUTH about baby Isla revealed!

AARON AND DAVID ARE DEVASTATED TO FIND OUT THAT SHE'S NOT THEIR DAUGHTER...

NEIGHBOURS | Channel 5 TUESDAY

Aaron and David's worst nightmare comes true this week, after their baby girl Isla is snatched! But the situation takes an even more shocking turn when it's revealed that she isn't their daughter at all...

Disaster strikes after the new dads turn their backs during the film festival, and Isla is taken by a mysterious woman called Britney. But what is her connection to the baby?

"Britney comes to the town feeling very stressed," reveals Neighbours newcomer Montana Cox, who plays her. "It's very emotional and intense for her as she follows Aaron and David. When she sees they're not watching Isla, Britney scoops her up!"

However, Britney taking the baby isn't a random act. We know that when Nicolette handed Isla over to Paul in Canberra, she switched her own daughter for someone else's – and it turns out she actually sold him Britney's baby girl, Abigail!

Aaron and David are frantic as they search for their missing daughter, so there's relief all round when Levi finds Britney, and asks her to hand Isla back. But as the truth comes tumbling out, there's another bombshell to come...

"Leo is the babydaddy!" exclaims Montana. "He and

Distressed Britney follows Aaron and David around town

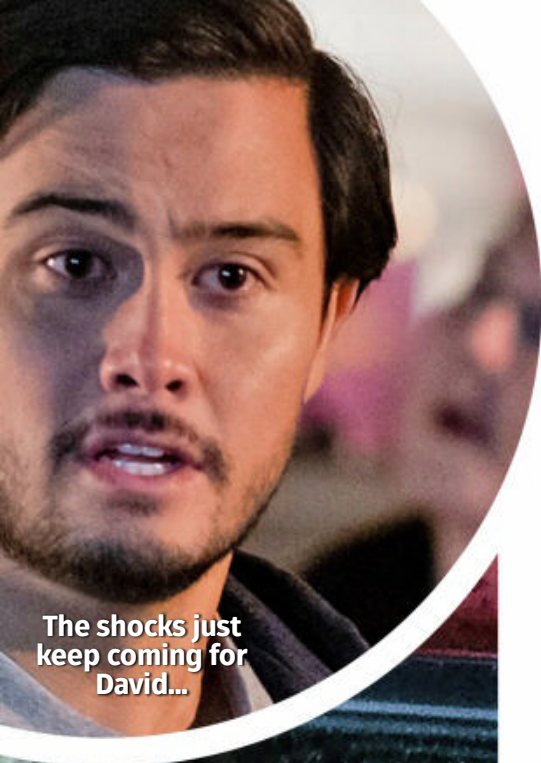

Britney met in New York where she was working as a model. Then I guess she fell pregnant and tried to tell Leo – but they broke up before she had the chance.

Charles meets his secret harasser in the woods... but who is it?

EMMERDALE | ITV WEDNESDAY

Charles' secret torment!

WHO IS BEHIND THE DISTURBING PHONE CALLS HE'S GETTING?

Vicar Charles' new life is threatened by a massive secret in Emmerdale this week, but what is he hiding?

It all begins when Charles receives a mysterious message on his phone while out with Harriet, and she wonders what on earth has got him so rattled. It's obvious that whoever is messaging Charles is someone he doesn't want to hear from, and the next day another call confirms Harriet's growing suspicions. Watching her friend struggle to keep his composure as he kills the call, Harriet fears that Charles could be in big trouble.

"The mystery caller has got Charles seriously rattled – he's clearly terrified," whispers our Emmerdale gossip. "It must be quite a shock to the system for Harriet because she's used to being the one who's hiding things from him. It's doubtful that Charles has buried a body in the woods, but something dodgy is going on. One thing's for sure, he wants shot of whoever is blowing up his phone!"

If Harriet was hoping that Charles would open up to her, she's sorely mistaken. Instead, he makes it crystal clear that he's got no intention of spilling the beans. But Harriet has seen a disturbing message on the screen and knows that her good friend is in dire straits.

As Harriet ponders Charles' problems, the vicar himself decides to nip the situation in the bud. After a spate of harassing texts sends his blood pressure rising, Charles snaps and makes a phone call...

"Let's just say it's not a cosy catch up – Charles lets rip!" warns our insider. "He goes nuclear on the person at "The mystery caller has Charles rattled – he's clearly terrified!"

Harriet worries when she sees a disturbing message on Charles' phone the other end and tells them to stop hounding him. The trouble is that Charles can't control what this person is going to do, and it's obviously something that could throw his world into chaos. At this rate, he'll be forced to plunder the church collection bowls to pay them off!"

However, Charles' furious phone call doesn't faze his tormentor one bit, and he is forced to head for a covert meeting in the woods. As he comes face to face with the person, it's clear that Charles is on the back foot, and his problem isn't going to disappear. But just who is so determined to gatecrash the vicar's new life, and what will his loved ones have to say if the truth comes out?

The enemy at the gates!

AL CLOSES IN ON THE WOOLPACK...

Al's offer to buy the Woolpack wins support from an unlikely source this week – Paddy!

Despite detesting the slick businessman, Paddy is the one who pushes wife Chas and best mate Marlon to do a deal with the devil.

It's a massive U-turn, given that Paddy resorted to horse-doping to raise the cash so they wouldn't need Al. But now he's adamant that Chas and Paddy need to reconsider or face losing the business altogether.

"Al has been blackmailing Paddy, and now he needs Paddy to help him win Chas and Marlon over," muses our Emmerdale insider.

"They all have history with Al, and they all despise him. But if they don't take his money, there won't be a pub to fight over, and none of them is willing to walk away."

It's Chas who fronts up to Al as they start negotiating on the terms of the deal. She tells him that he can have a third share of the pub, not the half-share he was trying to buy. It's not the deal that Al had hoped for, so Chas' big risk might see him walk away altogether. But given how hard he's pushed to buy-in, Al might just decide it's worth his while after all.

Just what lies behind Al's interest in the pub? It is linked to his complicated history with Chas, or is he working to a far darker plan?

Sienna hits rock bottom!

HER LIFE IS FALLING APART AROUND HER AS SHE SAYS GOODBYE TO TRUE LOVE BRODY...

Sienna struggles to work through her grief this week, in the wake of Brody's horrifying death – and it's not long before she has one of her classic Sienna meltdowns!

The situation is made worse as Damon and Sienna clash

Sienna is certain that Summer is responsible for Brody's death over funeral plans; before Sienna goes to work and makes a mistake that could end up jeopardising her teaching career. Anna Passey (Sienna) gives us the lowdown...

Hi, Anna! How is Sienna coping in the run-up to Brody's funeral?

As well as can be expected – badly. Brody was a huge part of her life, he was her stability and Sienna doesn't know how to operate without him. She's trying to distract herself by proving Summer's guilt, and now planning the funeral.

Why are Damon and Sienna not getting along?

Damon's angry and upset. He needs someone to blame, and Sienna is the obvious choice. But Sienna really wants to be involved with Liberty and Damon to help with the plans, and talk about Brody. But she feels very excluded from the group – they're all at odds.

Summer sends cupcakes – what does Sienna make of that?

It's a message from Summer to say that she wasn't the one who ran down Brody. And she wants Sienna to visit her again in prison. It's a provocation, and of course Sienna bites at that. I don't think Sienna will rest until she proves that Summer killed Brody! She wants justice for him at whatever cost...

What happens at Brody's funeral?

Well, Sienna doesn't end up going because Damon bans her! And Sienna's disappointed because it's obvious Brody loved her, and she has a right to be there. So Sienna goes to Warren for comfort and he gives her a pep talk. And that's when Sienna locks herself in the wake venue! She has a proper meltdown in true Sienna style.

“Sienna locks herself in and has a meltdown!”

Damon bans Sienna from the funeral, leaving her devastated

Will the truth about Brody's death ever be revealed?

Anna hopes Sienna never finds out that Warren was the real killer

Tell us about the situation with DeMarcus at school...

Well, as Sienna can't go to the funeral, she decides to go to work instead. She's just trying to keep herself busy and Sally does allow her to stay. But of course, Sienna's emotions get the better of her and there ends up being an altercation between her and the new student. I can't say much, but it is an accident that leaves Sienna wishing she'd stayed at home!

We all know who really killed Brody – how would Sienna react to the truth?

I almost don't want Sienna to find out that it was Warren. Their relationship is fraught already after he kidnapped the twins – she's only just moved on from that. But Warren is all that Sienna has left, so I think if she were to find out she would be heartbroken. She's already lost Brody – so I hope it stays a secret.

BYE, BYE ADAM!

Anna tells us she's really missing her on-screen boyfriend...

"It's been so awful without Adam [Woodward, who played Brody!]" wails Anna. "At the moment it still feels as if he's gone on holiday. I haven't quite got used to the fact that Adam won't be coming back. It's rare to spend five years of your life acting with someone because normally you're bouncing around from job to job. It's the end of an era for the characters and I just loved their journey. They were so broken when they first met and really came together as humans – I'm sad to see it over.

"But Adam and I live really close to each other, so I see him all the time," she adds. "We actually had lunch on the day his death scene aired. We'll always be in each other's lives – I couldn't go on without him!"

Fergus is shocked as Sally leaps to his defence

CORONATION STREET | ITV WEDNESDAY

Three's a crowd for Tim!

HE'S MARKED WHEN FERGUS GATECRASHES HIS ANNIVERSARY DINNER...

A letter from the council only spurs on Sally's crusade

Sally and Tim celebrate their first wedding anniversary this week – yet any hope of romance is shattered when Sal invites her new pal Fergus to join them at the dinner table!

Tim's keen to wine and dine his missus on their special day, and having a third wheel on their date isn't exactly what he had in mind. But with Sal completely obsessed with her local parking campaign, her hubby barely gets a look in...

"Tim's not exactly a man known for his grand romantic gestures, but he's pulled out all the stops to make Sal feel special," points out our cobbles spy. "So he's gutted when his wife barely even notices that he's there! She's so focused on her dream of residents-only parking, it's as though nothing else matters."

Former councillor Sal has been single-minded in her bid to get rid of the commuter parking on Coronation Street, and she sees traffic warden Fergus as the key to making her plan a success. So when she spots a member of the local council parking on the cobbles to use the tram yet again, she badgers Fergus into giving him a ticket for obstructing a dropped kerb.

Councillor Cameron is outraged, and an argument breaks out. Sally is quick to leap to Fergus' defence, and it's clear that he's impressed by how passionately she's fighting for this cause...

As the day of her wedding anniversary arrives, Sal is delighted to receive a letter from the council confirming that they are seriously considering her proposal. And before long, Sal has ditched her forlorn hubby to talk tactics with Fergus in the Rovers!

Cheesed off Tim confides his woes in Gary, pointing out

"Tim loves that Sally is so passionate, but this is getting beyond a joke!"

Sally extends an invitation to the traffic warden that the 'demented glint' is back in Sally's eye – but things are about to get worse. Just when Tim thinks he's prised his missus away, Fergus plonks himself down at their table at the Bistro...

"The worst thing is that he's there because Sally invited him!" gasps our sneak. "Tim loves the fact that his wife is so passionate, but this is getting beyond a joke. Where will it end? Will she invite Fergus home with them for a nightcap after, too?"

So is Sally set to realise that she's been neglecting her hubby on their special day? Or will Tim be threatening divorce if she continues to give the local traffic warden more attention than she's giving their marriage?

...BUT NOT FOR LONG,
AS MANDY AND PADDY GO
THEIR SEPARATE WAYS IN AN EMMERDALE FIRST

CLASSIC EMMERDALE | ITV3 MON-FRI

Last year's needs-must lockdown episodes excepted, 'two-handers' are a rarity in Emmerdale. In EastEnders of the 2000s, two characters couldn't bump into each other by the swings without exchanging 29 minutes of angsty dialogue about their regrets, hopes and dreams. But with Mandy and Paddy as the Dales' golden couple, the writers decided a dramatic departure for Mandy was worth it; so they popped them into the emotional wringer together and twisted it really, really hard.

We start with anger, and Paddy's discovery that Mandy's dad's carer, Neil, has also been giving her some 'TLC' of the most T and L kind. Mandy's defence – that she only went with Neil the once – doesn't really wash.

"He wasn't worth mentioning!" wails Mandy.

"Well, you mustn't have a very high opinion of yourself

if you have an affair with someone who's not even worth talking about," Paddy rages, at some length.

Soon, it's self-pity – and some ugly-faced crying...

"I've been dumped by every lad I've ever fallen for!" sobs Mandy.

"Yeah..." explodes Paddy, holding back the tears as we stare deeply into his soul. "But not by me you haven't."

Things then move with indecent haste to passion, as Paddy forgives and they reconcile. But, post-coital, we still have guilt and regret to get through. Paddy realises things can never be the same, and Mandy exits with a “we love each other, but we can’t be together” vibe.

It all makes for half an hour of heartbreaking – and exhausting – soap at its best.

STOCKING TRADE!

A classic romance begins this week, as hosiery peddler Bob Hope arrives in the village and man-eating postmistress Viv tries him on for size quicker than you can say “a 10 denier ladder-resist matt in opaline, please”. By the morning, randy Viv is clearly smitten by Bob’s silky finish. But is she just another notch on the travelling salesman’s display board?

Aww, we miss the old days of EastEnders, where a group of random characters would spend a week’s holiday in some weird location – the drama normally ending with none of them on speaking terms, and a couple of juicy scandals being salted-away for another time.

In 1998, it was the Norfolk Broads, as the show’s then ‘brat pack’ – Simon and boyfriend Chris, Tony and love Teresa, and Matthew and object of his desire Mary – heading off for a boating holiday. But when the youngsters stir up bother in the pub, there’s trouble on their trail. Protective brothers Gianni and Beppe learn that their baby sister lied to sneak off on the trip. Though once they also discover Tony has a tortured romantic history with both men and women, and that his previous career achievements include drug dealing, they’re not sure he’s husband material for their little signorina. So, the pair head east to ‘sort it aht!’.

Elsewhere, the local shop has new owners – Terry and Irene. Just the faces you want to see as you stagger in, hungover, for a pint of full-fat on a Sunday morning.

Kelly’s ire!

EPISODES FROM MAY 1999

The real mastermind behind the campaign against Mike is unmasked this week, as we discover that Julia Stone is in bed with nasty Greg Kelly – quite literally! We last saw Greg a few months back, when he broke in and held terrified Sally hostage. So, the show pulled out all the stops for his big return by having him, erm... break in and hold a terrified Sally hostage. This time, however, the story has a different ending, as Sally – clearly bored of this plot – clobbers him with a chair before the police arrive. Elsewhere, it’s the start of a beautiful bromance as Kev takes on Tyrone as an apprentice at the garage.

IMPORTANT SIGNS...

I have to give praise to Dolly-Rose Campbell with the sign language she is doing as Corrie's Gemma. She delivers scene after scene effortlessly, and makes it look as though she has been doing it for years. Well done Corrie for covering such an important issue.

HOTEL MADNESS

I've loved the Lassiters drama after the strike on Neighbours. I think we can all agree that it was funny to see Paul frazzled for once! He was definitely in the wrong for giving Harlow the promotion. Speaking of which, what a little madam Harlow is turning into – a Robinson through and through.

We have been surprised by Harlow's sassy attitude!

The family needs to pull together now more than ever – but can Marlon ever forgive Bob?

Poor Cher has been having a tough time

RIVER DEEP

I know Cher's been suffering with her mental health in Hollyoaks, and obviously jumping into the pond is awful. But that pond outside the Dog looks like it's only waist-high! Maybe that's why we never saw her or Sylver in the water...

📧 | Kev, Reading

Lily and Romeo almost drowned in that pond a few years ago, so it's deeper than you think!

A SUDDEN FAREWELL...

I was very sad to see Jade exit Casualty – it seems like only yesterday since she arrived in the ED. To be honest, I don't think the show took full advantage of her. Jade's such a brilliant character with so much to offer, I wish they'd given her more of a chance to shine.

📧 | Veronica, Dunstable

People jump in and out of Casualty, so she might come back!

Where's the Vic's secret beer garden?

GARDEN PARTY

I am intrigued by the 'Beer Garden' signs for the Queen Vic – we have never seen it! Although sometimes there are people drinking pints at tables in the Albert Square gardens. Have Mick and Linda now claimed it as a pub garden?

👤 | Rachel, Biggleswade

We're intrigued, too! Maybe there's a secret beer garden we've never known about...

JAS' NEW ROMANCE

It's been lovely seeing Jasmine bond with Cash on Home and Away. But after all Jas has been through with losing Robbo and then dating killer Lewis,

Will Jas finally be lucky in love?

Cash better not turn out like either one of them. If Cash ends up letting down Jas, he'll have Irene to answer to – and maybe the rest of Summer Bay as well!

👤 | Tilly

Fingers crossed Cash will turn out to be an all round good guy.

NORRIS' GOODBYE

It's wonderful to see Coronation Street's older characters Rita and Ken back in the forefront of a major, albeit tragic, storyline. These episodes have been a fitting tribute to the legendary Norris Cole. I only wish Emily Bishop could have joined returnees Freda and Claudia for the funeral!

Norris received the send-off he deserved – and left a surprise for everyone, too...

The BIG DEBATE!

ILLUSTRATION: ROB DAVIS

THE COTTONS' BIG CON!

It shocked us all when EastEnders' Rocky revealed himself to be none other than Dotty's secret uncle, Tom! And it's safe to say that none of our readers saw this twist on the horizon...

What on earth!? How can it be that Rocky is a Cotton and not Sonia's dad? Something did seem a bit off about him from the start. But I'm not sure how Tom is related to Nick – wasn't he supposedly an only child?

👤 | Mike, Yorkshire

I'm slightly disappointed in the identity-scam plan. Rocky and Sonia were getting on so well, and I was warming to his character. Serves me right for expecting one person to come into Albert Square and be genuine...

👤 | Polly

Well done to the EastEnders writing team for pulling this one out of the bag – no one cottoned on to that! It's an epic twist. I wonder whether Dotty and Tom will get their hands on Sonia's money – or if she'll manage to figure out who Rocky really is. Either way, I'm firmly on Team Sonia!

👤 | Soph, London

Some of you think Rocky might not go through with the plan to rip off Sonia...

Rocky's one of the good guys, I'm sure of it. Even though he's a Cotton, Rocky doesn't seem to have that tough and terrifying exterior that Dotty and Nick both have.

👤 | Imogen

We all saw Rocky defend Sonia's honour in front of Ethan – I think he's got a soft spot for her. Perhaps he'll back out of helping Dotty at the last minute and reveal everything.

👤 | Stuart, Hertfordshire

If he does that, Dotty will never get the inheritance!

O FOR ORANGE

Aggie on Corrie recently wore a bright orange, long coat. Any idea where it's from? Or if not, something similar?

📧 | Ruth, Bristol

We couldn't track down the exact match, but have a look online at the 'Salmon Trench Coat' from Modanisa. Or our favourite, the 'Maxi Corduroy Collar Belted Trench Coat' from Nasty Gal. You'll look stylish in either one!

I MISS JOEY...

I saw David Witts on Manhunt: The Night Stalker the other day and remember him from EastEnders – can you tell me what happened to his character?

📧 | Theresa

David played hunky Joey Branning, Derek's son, for two years. Joey did particularly well in the romance department while in Walford, enjoying flings with Lucy Beale, Whitney Dean and Lauren Branning – his own first cousin! Joey left Walford after his sister Alice was imprisoned for murdering Michael Moon, and Joey failed to extract a confession from the real culprit, Janine Butcher.

THE BIG interview

EASTENDERS | BBC1 TUESDAY

“Suki should be worried – Honey means business!”

EastEnders star Emma Barton hopes the viewers will be cheering as Honey finally stands up to her bullying boss...

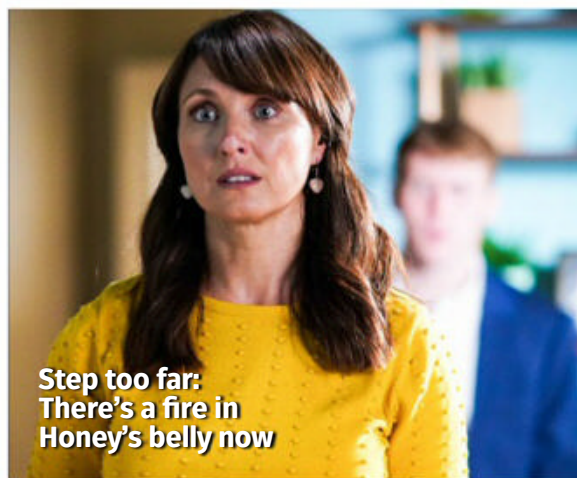

“Honey’s been in Walford 16 years, and she’s never been slapped before,” reveals EastEnders star Emma Barton, as we grill her about Honey finding herself on the receiving end of Suki’s palm this week. “To have another woman slap you in soap is pretty cool [laughs] – it’s quite a box ticked in terms of iconic moments. Scenes between the likes of Pat and Peggy, they always got the biggest gasps!”

There’ll be gasps ringing out when Suki lashes out at Honey (see p23) – and so far, Honey has been far too nice for her own good! But as Emma explains, enough is enough now...

How has Honey been dealing with Suki’s unpredictable behaviour?

It’s really uncomfortable – Honey feels as though she’s walking on eggshells. She doesn’t know what more to do; she’s told Suki that she’s still her friend

Step too far:
There’s a fire in Honey’s belly now and she’s here to support her, but all she’s getting from Suki is a frosty vibe.

It’s a form of workplace bullying, but does Honey realise that?

Yes, it gets to a point where she has to address it, because she knows it’s not right. She wouldn’t tolerate this if it was happening to her children, so she’s not going to put up with that herself. She does confront Suki and say, “Why are you bullying me? Is this because I didn’t reciprocate your kiss?” And Suki pretends that she doesn’t know what she’s talking about!

That must be tough for Honey...

She’s almost frightened. She thought she’d won over Suki, and made a lovely friend. Suki’s got nobody else, and now she’s blown it with Honey. It’s all very difficult, and it gets worse when Honey has to ask for time off. How do you go about that when you’ve got a boss who scares the living daylights out of you?

How does Honey feel about the kiss?

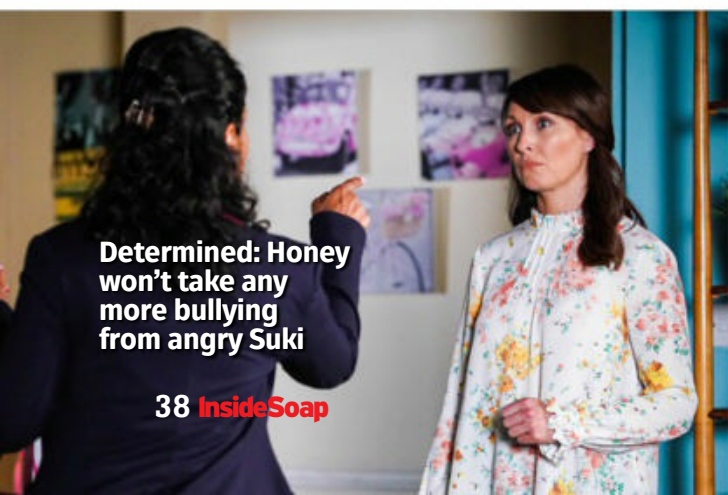

Honey’s brilliant in the respect that she thinks things through, and is very understanding. She could have said, “What the hell do you think you’re doing? I’ve got a boyfriend!” She just thinks that Suki is confused, and Honey wants to support her. So to get this nasty behaviour from Suki, it feels like it’s all Honey’s fault.

What is Honey’s reaction when Suki slaps her?

She’s very upset. But then Honey finds this fire, it makes her stand up for herself and go, “No, I’m sorry, that is not how you should behave”. I think the situation is going to turn around and Suki will be begging for Honey’s forgiveness!

Is it nice to see Honey finally standing up for herself?

It’s lovely. She’s like a lion – she’ll take so much pulling of the mane,

Determined: Honey won’t take any more bullying from angry Suki

Bridges burnt:
Can Honey and Suki repair their friendship?

but if you stand on her tail, she will roar. I love that. It takes a long time to surface, but when it does, it's impressive! Then people know she means business.

Should Suki be worried?

I think she should! Maybe Suki's words have brought out something in Honey; she taught her how to deal with things, so perhaps some of Suki's strength has rubbed off. Honey's seen the way Suki deals with things, and now she's giving it to her with both barrels!

What was it like filming the slap with Bal (Sopal, who plays Suki)?

We had a stunt director, because it was quite tricky. But it was great fun, and Balvinder is so lovely. We do laugh when she has to be mean, and she'll always apologise. It's been brilliant, I've really enjoyed our partnership.

What advice would you give to Honey about dealing with Suki?

You know what, I actually think Honey is nailing it. She's dealing with it in exactly the same way that I would, so I don't think there's any advice I could give her. I'm impressed!

CORRIE'S DAVID HAS A ROCKY RIDE
AHEAD WITH MAX, AS STAR
JACK P SHEPHERD EXPLAINS...

CORONATION STREET | ITV FRIDAY

Remember when little Max Turner used to be a sweet-natured blonde angel who everyone doted upon? Well, those days are well and truly done! It's looking like teenage Max has far more in common with wild child mum Kylie and wicked dad Callum, and stepdad David is just starting to realise that he has his hands full. Mind you, some might say this is karma after the hell David himself gave Gail over the years! We caught up with Corrie favourite Jack P Shepherd to get the inside story...

"It's going to be interesting to play the other side of this," laughs Jack, who recently filmed a series of night shoots for a big storyline that's coming up this winter. "David can see a bit of himself in Max. Their relationship has been fine up until this point and there hasn't been any trouble, really. But now Max is messing about and becoming very rude towards David."

Having caused merry hell at school and gone on a spree with teacher Daniel's credit card, Max has now graduated to become a soap teen tearaway. He's also managed to cause a rift between David and wife Shona, who suspected Max was up to no good all along.

"In David's eyes, Shona is not Max's mum, and she can't say anything because her son killed Kylie!" shares Jack.

"Shona doesn't have a leg to stand on because of David needs to be two steps ahead of Max what Clayton did, so she can never really tell Max or Lily off. So, David is on his own in that respect."

As the sole disciplinarian in the family, David has fallen at the first hurdle by trying to cover up Max's credit card stunt, and leaving himself open to being blackmailed by his own child. Still, what the young lad has done so far is nothing compared with David's own wayward teen antics. For Jack, it's great to relive the history of those epic Platt house fallouts, but with him playing the struggling parent. So how will he cope with Max being bad?

"He'll probably react in the same way Gail did, by punishing him," muses Jack. "Gail tried her best, but David was relentless! I think if Max starts to get worse, David will feel remorseful over how he treated Gail. It'll make him see what he put her through!"

For now, it's not as bad as it was back in the day, but brace yourself for more Max trouble coming up. What advice would Jack give his alter ego as he navigates this tricky next step in parenting?

"David needs to be two steps ahead of Max and to figure out what his next move is going to be before Max does," he tells us. "David has been in that position, so he should be smart enough to get inside Max's head if he wants to keep tabs on him. Max will be planning something..."

In the meantime, Jack has a very specific wish on how this will all play out in the household – Gail's role in Max's life in particular.

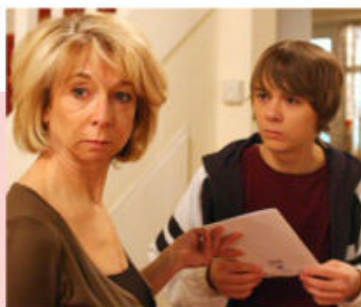

"When David used to play up and Gail was at the end of her tether, it was always Audrey who saw the good in him," he shares.

"It'd be interesting if it came full circle, and when Max plays up and David loses his temper, it's Gail who sees the good in him. That would be an interesting dynamic!"

Kate White

Mini-me: Max is following in David's footsteps with his bad behaviour

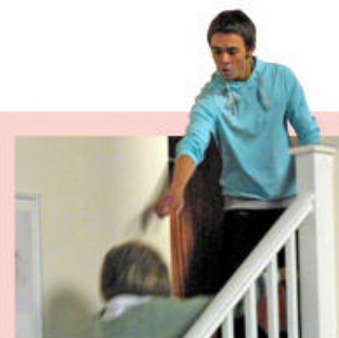

POISON PEN

Gail was rattled when she thought she was receiving cards from her late serial killer husband Richard Hillman. But she was even more disturbed to discover they were being sent by her own son, merely to torment her!

DEAD CRUEL

In a piece of typically manipulative theatre, David faked his own death – writing a suicide note, and driving his car into the canal – just to wreck his sister's wedding and cause mayhem for his family.

STAIR-GATE

David saw red after discovering that Gail had helped his girlfriend Tina end her pregnancy. Following a heated row, furious David pushed his interfering mother down the stairs, and she was fortunate to escape with her life.

DEVIL CHILD David!

Max has a way to go before he's as bad as his dad...

“Rodney & Diane could ride off into the sunset together!”

We’re used to the youngsters of soapland causing a scandal when they wake up in bed with someone they shouldn’t. Yet this week, it’s the more experienced residents who are proving that you’re never too old for an ill-advised liaison, as Diane lives to regret another drunken bunk-up with her ex-husband Rodney!

But as Emmerdale star Patrick Mower – who’s played Rodney for 21 years – tells us, his character has no such regrets...

“Rodney’s feelings for Diane have never changed; they were childhood sweethearts,” the actor reminds us. “They grew up together and married young, and Rodney has always held a candle for her. They’ve had a love-hate relationship during the whole time they’ve been in Emmerdale together, but the hate comes more from Diane’s side than Rodney’s!”

The Blackstocks’ marriage may have ended in heartbreak after Rodney walked out on Diane and their daughter Bernice, but that hasn’t stopped the former spouses from going back to each other over the years. Their most recent liaison was sparked after Diane had a disastrous internet date – though while she was probably just looking to make herself feel better, it was clearly more than that for lovelorn Rodders.

“One minute, Diane is very, very hot, and the next she’s turned the tap off!” despairs Patrick. “Rodney just tries to be his normal self, and turn on the charm that won her over in the first place. He’s always loved her, but it always goes wrong because he keeps making mistakes, and ending up in bed with other women! But this time, he actually thinks it could be for real. “There’s a lovely scene this week where she tells him that he can move in with her, and Rodney thinks they are back together,” he adds. “He does this wonderful dance, and you can see how excited he is. But will they get back together or not? We don't know..."

With Patrick's co-star Elizabeth Estensen having just announced that she's retiring from the role of Diane, we very much doubt this love story will have a happy ending. Unless Patrick is planning on retiring from the Dales too, that is!

"It would be nice if they could ride off into the sunset together," he muses.

"But Rodney's not quite ready for that. And I have no intention of leaving just yet, either. You sometimes talk about what the future might hold, and I would quite like to have a little bit of luxury next year. Maybe it's about time Rodney was looked after by an attractive lady, I think he would quite like that!"

Patrick first joined the Dales as Rodney in October 2000 – and while 21 years is a long time in soap, he reckons that his alter ego is pretty much the same guy now as he was back then.

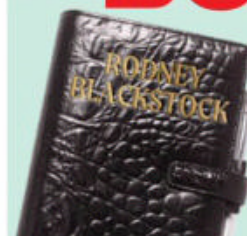

"I don't think his character has changed, he still doesn't see himself as being old," he points out. "In fact, this story with Diane is the first time that Rodney ever makes any kind of concession that he might not be as young as he used to be. He's still young at heart and very happy-go-lucky. If he could just get out of the box room at Jimmy and Nicola's, then he'd be very happy indeed!"

Away from Emmerdale, Patrick certainly has plenty to keep him busy – in fact he tells us that he's currently writing his third book! Although, like Rodney, he'd prefer not to talk about how many years he's been around...

"I might admit to being, say, 59 – because age is simply a number," chuckles the sprightly [cough]-year-old. "You're as young as you feel! I'm quite similar to Rodney in that I don't feel my age at all. I still play golf, and we're lucky enough to have a tennis court. We have nine horses, four donkeys and four dogs. My son has just left Oxford University, and I have my beautiful wife. I'm very, very happy."

Hot doc:
Mac and Logan
really hit it off

It's so amazing to step into the shoes of a character as three-dimensional as Mac," grins Home and Away star Emily Weir, who plays the strong-willed businesswoman. "She's outspoken, she's blunt, wears her heart on her sleeve and doesn't suffer fools. I'm not sure if people like Mackenzie – but I do!"

And Emily's not the only one, as this week, hot new doctor Logan sets his sights on Mackenzie! Her last heartbreak left her lashing out at her nearest and dearest, so it's no surprise that Mac is hesitant to open herself up to love again. Emily tells us more...

Tell us, does Mac like Logan?

Oh, she definitely likes him! But Mac's terrified at the same time – you have to remember her trauma with Ari and the miscarriage. I think she's scared to open herself up and dip into a vulnerable position again.

Why does Mackenzie confront Logan when he doesn't call?

Mac feels Logan's been chasing her – it's very cat and mouse. So when she doesn't hear from him, Mac takes it as a rejection. Little does she know that Logan has been at a rescue and is hurt!

Would you like Mackenzie to find love again after Ari?

Ari was a safe bet for Mac. He's a good guy, and she was in love with him because of the stability – but I don't think he lit her fire in terms of wit and humour. Mac is great when she has these intellectual battles – fight flirting! And I think Logan can provide that...

What's it like working with Harley (Bonner, aka Logan)?

It's been an absolute thrill! We really get along and he's been a breath of fresh air. It's been great to create chemistry between our characters. Not to mention we really do have a laugh together. I consider Harley a really good mate, and it's been fun filming.

Could Mac cope with heartbreak again?

I don't think it would be as bad as it was with Ari. That was more than a breakup because of the ectopic pregnancy. But Mac has grown, her emotional maturity has increased, and she's got a hold on not taking it out on others.

Mac is known for her wild side – will we see that with Logan?

Yes! Historically in Australian soap opera, women play these damsels in distress. But Mackenzie is so different! She came in very sassy and independent, albeit relying on her dad's money. But she can be very likeable, then unlikeable, then high and funny; but when Mackenzie's low, she can be really low...

Do you still enjoy being on the show as much as you first did?

Of course! It'll be three years soon. I was a fan of the show since I was a girl, so for the first six months, it didn't feel real. And still now I get these magical moments – I still can't believe that Home and Away is my job!

Hollyoaks star Kelly Greenwood reckons her character is holding everyone together...

Eco-warrior Zara may be determined to save the world, but her mission to help her brother is failing this week as Luke's dementia worsens. And Hollyoaks star Kelly Greenwood tells us that her character is doing her very best to stop the family from falling apart...

"Zara really is the glue holding everyone together," she explains. "I don't think the extent of Luke's illness has hit her yet because she's trying to sort everyone else out. Zara's always been the one who fixes things, so the realisation that she can't fix Luke is heartbreaking."

Luke shocks his family by gambling his mum's inheritance then trying to kiss Ollie's girlfriend, and being rude to Becky in the village!

"The kiss is bad for Cindy because she's Luke's partner – but Zara just wants to work out how to get through all this as a family," Kelly tells us. "Luke still has some quite lucid moments, and there are some beautiful scenes between him and Zara where we see a bit of banter, and some sibling playfulness. Zara's clinging on to that."

But the fight isn't just on the home-front for Zara, as she gets involved in the drama at the market, too...

"Nate's got a stall with clothing that is really not sustainable," reveals Kelly. "Whereas Ripley is encouraging people to buy second hand, so Zara's really trying to support them. But it's all just a coping mechanism so she doesn't have to face the reality of Luke's condition. There will be a few fight for Zara with lots of different people – she's passionate about what she believes in!"

Blast from the past

“Denise was a flawed character – but I laughed a lot!”

WITH TWO SOAPS UNDER HER BELT, ACTRESS DENISE BLACK HAS A LOT OF FOND MEMORIES TO LOOK BACK ON...

There aren't many actors who get to put one long-running soap role on their CV, let alone two! So the fact that Denise Black has been in both Corrie (as Denise Osbourne from 1992 to 2017) and Emmerdale (in which she played Joanie Dingle for two years) is a huge achievement. Yet she's the first to admit that her characters weren't always the most popular with viewers...

“They both made bad choices, didn't they?” ponders Denise. “However, it's funny how sometimes the public loves you for it, and sometimes they hate you for it! A lot of people felt that Joanie shouldn't have been mucking around with the Dingles' marriage, and with Denise... I'm sorry, but if you sleep with royalty, you must die!”

“Denise was very flawed; but I think actually her character changed a lot because of circumstances beyond our control,” she continues. “She was only thrown into the story with Ken at the eleventh hour because of Annie Kirkbride [who played Deirdre] being ill. But I did have some amazing stories on Corrie.”

Hairdresser Denise caused a huge scandal on the cobbles after she shackled up with Ken, and became pregnant with his son, Daniel.

But after they decided to give the relationship a go, Ken discovered that Denise had been cheating on him with her brother-in-law!

“There were fisticuffs at the Barlows,” recalls Denise. “That was one of my favourite memories, because Ken had to throw the brother-in-law against the wall; but of course they're only sets, so they fell down! When we filmed it, we had loads of the crew with their elbows up against the walls to hold them in place. We laughed a lot!”

Denise also looks back fondly on one of the first times she visited the Corrie set after landing her role...

“I remember seeing all the famous faces in the green room, waiting to film,” she tells us. “I saw Julie Goodyear [who played Bet Lynch], and I tried to be dead cool and not stare. But then I got to the door and turned around, so I could look at her, and I fell out of the door! I'll always remember falling flat on my face the first time I saw Bet Lynch!”

Denise's Emmerdale character also caused a stir when she had an affair with Zak Dingle, breaking up his long-term marriage to Lisa!

And the star tells us that she had the time of her life on the Yorkshire-based soap.

“Emmerdale is easier to handle in many ways, as an actor,” explains Denise. “It was a much calmer experience for me, as there was less pressure than on Corrie.”

And you get to film in an amazing place – you can see why they call it God's Own Country, because it's so beautiful. There's red kites skirting around the sky above the village, it's wonderful.”

Denise is currently back on stage in a new play called MUM – and while the theatre may not have any wildlife, there are other benefits...

“We've got real babies, and they're gorgeous!” she grins. “My character is called Pearl and she's the mother-in-law. It's just me, Cat Simmons and Sophie Melville in the cast, and we're also living together!”

“This play is a real page-turner, it's incredibly well-written with such great female roles,” adds Denise. “It's about being a mum. When you're a new mother you think you can do that and still work – but the practical side is a lot harder than you imagine.”

Film star: Denise as Mary in The Last Tree

Villain: Joanie wasn't popular with fans for wrecking Zak and Lisa's marriage...

...she wasn't popular with Belle either!

Family drama: Denise and Ken with a young Daniel

MUM'S THE WORD!

Could Denise make a return to the cobbles?

Denise's Emmerdale character Joanie may be six feet under now, but her Corrie alter ego Denise is very much alive and kicking. So might she ever make a return to the cobbles?

"I saw on social media recently that Denise had given Daniel £40,000 – she's doing better than me!" laughs the actress. "Having seen Daniel as a man now, I could never understand why Denise didn't go back; maybe we'll find out, maybe we won't."

"Rob Mallard, who plays Daniel, was huge fun to work with," adds Denise. "And god, he's a good actor. I stayed with him when I was filming, and we had such a laugh together. If there was a need for Denise and the story was good, then I would love to go back."

Treading the boards: Sophie, Denise and Cat star in new play MUM

It's clear just how thrilled Denise is to get back onto the stage, although she's also been keeping herself busy during the lockdown period.

"I just got my movie break – and I'm nearly 60!" she chuckles. "It's a film called The Last Tree, which came out in 2020, and I have a really good role in it. I remember thinking, 'When I was young, I never thought a British movie would look like this!' I'm really proud of it."

So, with two soaps under her belt already, would Denise consider another if EastEnders or Hollyoaks were to come knocking?

"My dream would be to do a mixture of everything – theatre, telly and film," she reveals. "Although I had always hoped to have a proper role on The Bill – I was in it three times, but only ever as a guest. The trouble for me is that I'm often cast as the naughty person, so I'd always get banged up!"

Sarah Ellis

MUM runs from 30 Sept to 16 Oct at Plymouth Theatre Royal, www.theatreroyal.com, then transfers to the Soho Theatre in London until 20 Nov: www.sohotheatre.com

THE Inside Soap AWARDS

Life in the real world may have been unpredictable over the past 12 months, but there's one thing we've always been able to rely on – the soaps still bringing us show-stopping drama, week after week!

And it's certainly been a dramatic year! We cried buckets over Seb's murder in Corrie, then yelled at our TVs in disgust when killer Corey got away with the crime scot-free! We've also been gripped by Gray's actions over in Walford – we couldn't believe it when he bumped off lovely Kush – but we're not sure we're ready for him to be found out just yet...

Up in the Dales, the biggest surprise of the year turned out to be nurse Meena killing poor Leanna in cold blood – what a shock twist that was! Meanwhile in Hollyoaks, we've been rooting for our fave character Martine to beat breast cancer and get her man – we really hope there's a happy ending in store for her.

That's not even counting the non-stop action in daytime soaps Doctors, Home and Away and Neighbours, or the medical dramas Holby and Casualty. It's not about what we've most enjoyed this year, though – we want to hear who and what gets YOUR vote in soap in 2021...

CHARLIE DE MELO

Corrie's Imran Habeeb

...faces your questions!

Lawyer Imran is used to giving his witnesses a proper grilling in court – but will Corrie star Charlie buckle under our Inside Soap reader questions?

“If you were in legal trouble, would you hire Imran as your lawyer?”

Absolutely not! His track record is shocking, I don't know why anyone hires him – I think he's been responsible for David Platt going to prison twice! Imran is uber-committed, but always falls foul of the actual judicial process. I probably couldn't afford Sabeen, so I'd have to go with Adam Barlow.

“What's the best thing about having Georgia Taylor (Toyah) as an on-screen partner?”

Oh god, everything! She's just a brilliant person, as well as an incredibly talented performer. There's an ease with her – she makes everything so simple on set and takes the work out of it entirely. She's just fantastic, I love her to bits.

“Would you hire Imran as your lawyer?”

“Things are rocky between Imran and Toyah right now. Can they get through it?”

I hope so, as I've been paired with Georgia for most of my time at Corrie. It's good to shake things up in terms of the storyline and give them some conflict to play; but in a purely selfish way, if it meant I got to spend less time with Georgia at work, that would be a huge blow. So I would be really sad if they can't work through it.

“Do you think you would make a good foster carer in real life?”

I'm a caring person, and can engage well with young kids – because we're probably on a similar mental level! But at the same time, it's a huge ask. I don't think enough is made of the selfless dedication that is required to be a foster parent. The people who do it are saints, and I think it's a vocation more than anything. I'd say that's beyond me.

“What inspired you to get your motorbike licence? And where will you take your first road trip to?”

It was partly boredom during the most recent lockdown. Also there seems to be a growing contingent of motorcyclists at work. One day, Jimmi Harkishin [Dev] pulled up on this giant, beautiful motorbike, looking the absolute business and I said, “That looks like a cool way to get around!” He's been pecking my head to get my licence ever since. That links to where I want to take a road trip, because Jimmi talks about the Autobahn across Germany, I'd like to try that.

Shaking things up: Charlie says working with Georgia is a dream

Shocking: Imran doesn't have the best track record in court

Puppy love: Look at that face!

On yer bike: Is a road trip on the horizon?

“What inspired you to get your motorbike licence?”

“How many pups have you been involved in rearing? And how tough is it to see them go?”

Just north of 30, across four litters. But I’m up in Manchester most of the time, and the dogs are at my parents’ in the Midlands. So I’m very much just a guest helping out! And while you’d think it would be incredibly difficult when they leave, by that point, the mum is desperate for them to go because she’s become a husk of herself. So that takes the sting out for the rest of us.

“I saw a photo on your social media of you in full-on wrestling attire! Is that a secret hobby?”

It’s more of an aspiration! My friend Rick and I have regressed back to our teenage years and interests, wrestling being one of them. Rick is a personal trainer, and during lockdown we ended up doing PT classes over Zoom in fancy dress! It’s really two 30-plus-year-olds trying to buy back teenagedom...

“Imran doesn’t have many mates. Who should he have a bromance with?”

That’s true! Someone like Daniel – there’s some mileage because they both think they’re the smartest person in the room. They’re a bit conceited! Imran’s a foster carer and Daniel’s a tutor, so maybe that could bring them together? I love Julia Goulding, so it would be fun to have scenes with Shona. She would be brutally honest, and it’d be interesting to see how Imran responds...

Brutal: Julia Goulding’s Shona tells it how it is

“Have you given Millie Gibson (Kelly) any advice on set?”

It would be quite patronising for me to offer her any advice, because she’s far more able than me! She’s one of the brightest stars in the cast, and I’m so proud of her. But there is an element of me that wants to make sure I look after her – Millie, Georgia and I have a group chat, and she knows that we’re there for her.

“Have you had any strange reactions from Corrie fans?”

Nothing that’s shaken me too much. It’s usually just me forgetting why

Back to youth: Charlie is living his wrestling dreams

anyone would know what my name is! If someone calls me Imran, the penny drops, but if someone calls me Charlie, in my brain I’m going, “Did I go to school with this person? Did I work with them?” Then they say, “We love the show!” So it clicks and I go, “Okay, phew!”

“How do you think the viewers will react when they find out what Imran’s been up to?”

Oh, they’ll be furious! But if people are throwing their hands up and going, “What are you doing, you idiot?” then that’s good, because it means they’re engaged. The worst thing would be indifference.

“Which past Corrie icons would you have liked to meet?”

...asks reader Alesha from Stockton-on-Tees

There’s so many! Having worked with Barbara Knox [Rita] a bit, she tells stories about Pat Phoenix, who played Elsie Tanner, and she just sounds brilliant. I would have loved to be a fly on the wall back in those days! And Annie Kirkbride [Deirdre] too – she sounds like such an eccentric person!

RIDLEY ROAD

Go with your heart:
Vivien follows
dashing Jack to the capital

Infiltration: Vivien goes undercover

“This story is so relevant for today”

A JEWISH WOMAN GOES UNDERCOVER IN A NEO-NAZI ORGANISATION IN THIS ALL-STAR ADAPTATION...

Inspired by real-life events – and based on the acclaimed novel by Jo Bloom – this four-part drama is the story of Vivien Epstein: a young Jewish woman from Manchester who follows her first love, Jack, to the East End of London in 1962. There she finds him embroiled with the anti-fascist ‘62 Group’, working undercover in the ultra right-wing National Socialist Movement, led by the neo-Nazi Colin Jordan.

After Vivien finds work in a Soho hair salon, she is herself soon involved with the 62 Group – a genuine organisation created in response to anti-Semitic attacks – run by her strong-willed aunt and uncle.

With an all-star cast including former EastEnders favourites Tamzin Outhwaite and Tracy-Ann Oberman, Ridley Road is a Sunday night must-see. Here, star Agnes O’Casey, who plays our heroine Vivien, tells us more...

Hello Agnes! Please tell us about Vivien...

She’s from a loving but overbearing Manchester household, with an arranged marriage looming. She sees her life laid out in front of her, and veers off into the unknown. Initially she follows Jack to London, but ends up finding out more about her own beliefs, determination and capability.

It’s the 1960s when she arrives in London – what was it like then?

It was exciting – things were starting to become looser and freer. But there was a huge economic depression after the Second World War, with huge disparities, as there are today.

Why is this an important story to tell?

It’s so relevant for now, though it’s so much more than a ‘topical’ show – it’s so full of heart and humanity. And it’s important because anti-Semitism is still very much in operation and overlooked. It’s only discussed as something in the past, as if it’s long gone.

Vivien undergoes quite a dramatic transformation in the first episode...

Yes, I loved it! When she gets to London, she starts getting braver and braver with her choices. First winged eyeliner, then bolder lipstick – then a beehive! She takes up her clothes... She really comes into herself.

This is your first acting job – how’s it been working alongside such an incredible cast?

Obviously, I was very nervous. I couldn’t believe that for my first job I would be working with people I’ve looked up to my whole life. They work in such an incredible way and are all so kind and generous!

Allison Jones

On the ROAD

Meet the rest of the Ridley characters...

Colin Jordan

“The real Jordan was a fringe figure in politics,” explains Rory Kinnear. “But a figurehead of the British far-right, as leader of the National Socialist Movement.”

Soly Malinovsky

“Soly is principled and reckless, with a terribly short temper,” admits Eddie Marsan.

“But his heart is in the right place. He’s more of a street fighter than an academic.”

Nancy Malinovsky

“Nancy is brave, fearless and clever,” declares Tracy-Ann Oberman. “She’s the brains behind the 62 Group and takes on the role of mentoring Vivien.”

Jack Morris

“Jack is a very passionate and determined guy,” insists Tom Varey.

“He’s willing to die for a cause he believes in.”

Liza Epstein

“Liza is a typical Jewish housewife,” reckons Sam Spiro, of Vivien’s mother. “But through her daughter, she realises there’s another life to lead.”

Barbara Watson

“Barbara is a hairdresser,” shares Tamzin Outhwaite.

“She’s the mother of Stevie, a mixed-raced student, and the racism he meets is gut-wrenching.”

Sinister: Rory Kinnear plays the leader of a neo-Nazi movement

INSIDE TV RISQUÉ BUSINESS!

BRADLEY WALSH IS BACK FOR MORE COMICAL CLANGERS AS THE REBOOT GETS A FULL SERIES...

BLANKETY BLANK | BBC1 SATURDAY

Following a successful Christmas special (not to mention a few revivals), Blankety Blank gets a full Saturday night series this week, hosted again by Bradley Walsh. A panel of six celebrities helps – in the loosest sense of the word – two contestants fill in the missing words of a sentence. And, as Bradley tells Inside TV, the resulting double entendres have him in bits...

"You know what, despite my age, I have a very juvenile sense of humour!" grins the star. "I love comedians and always have done, and we've got comics at the top of their game: Josh Widdicombe and Rob Beckett were like a couple of naughty schoolboys – Joel Dommett, Sue Perkins, Jimmy Carr... I mean, they were just hysterical."

The show first ran in 1979, presented by Sir Terry Wogan, then comedian Les Dawson, while a late-90s reboot was hosted by Lily Savage. Interestingly, not only was Bradley once a celebrity guest back in the Lily Savage era, he also played an important role in the Les Dawson days...

"I was the studio warm-up man for Les on about half-a-dozen occasions," reveals the presenter. "Back in the day, when I was about 28. That was the only time I ever met Les, and he was one of my comedy heroes, so that was cool. And now, all these years later, I'm hosting it!"

Thankfully, with Covid restrictions easing, not only is there an actual studio audience, but also Bradley was able to get that bit closer for a sneaky peek at the celebs' answers...

"Yeah, I walk behind the panel and look over their shoulders to see what

CRASH AND BURN!

AS THE SITCOM RETURNS, MICHELLE KEEGAN REVEALS HER ALTER EGO HAS TROUBLE AHEAD...

As a third series of the brash comedy Brassic kicks off this week, Vinnie is finally out of prison, doing his best to lie low – until Farmer Jim comes knocking with a highly lucrative proposition. Here, Michelle Keegan, who plays Vinnie's pal Erin, reveals how her character ends up arrested...

"She's totally out of her depth; she's never dealt with that," shares the star. "She's always been the good one, telling people what's wrong and what's right. Now, she's ended up where she didn't want to be. The first series, she was trying to get away from this lifestyle; second series she was dragged back into it, this series she's right at the heart of the drama!"

Drama indeed – as in one action-packed scene, Erin

Big shoes: Bradley used to warm up for the great Les Dawson they've written – and some of the things they start to write... well, you couldn't put them on the telly," he chuckles. "Then they decide to change them. So you'll see me walk behind them and just start laughing, and I say to Liza Tarbuck, 'What on earth have you put that for?! I have to say, it's the funniest show I have ever worked on!'"

Lynn Gibson

finds herself involved in a high-speed crash...

"That was really fun!" cheers Michelle. "The car ends up at the bottom of a quarry, which we filmed at 1am – it was freezing, but looked so good!"

And after series two ended on a cliffhanger, with Erin whispering to Vinnie, can we expect to see their relationship progress?

"I think there's always going to be a simmering romance," muses Michelle. "They have a lot of history. You do get to find out what Erin said, but you'll just have to watch to find out!"

Lynn Gibson

As her fascinating tour of the Cotswolds reaches its final destination this week, poet Pam Ayres gives us chapter and verse on her favourite televisual treats...

What was the last series you binge-watched?

I really enjoyed a series on Netflix called Fauda – that was dynamite. It's set in Israel and stars Lior Raz as an unlikely hero. There are three series, and I watched them all!

What else have you enjoyed most recently?

I'm enjoying Vigil, it's quite tense. And Kate Winslet was absolutely marvellous in Mare Of Easttown. It was a good, believable story. I just thought it was wonderful.

Hysterics: Billy Connolly is the ultimate comedian

How about your favourite comedy shows?

I think Peter Kay is exceptional, and Only Fools And Horses is fantastic.

And more than anybody else, Billy Connolly has convulsed our family with laughter over the years.

Which shows do you remember from childhood?

I liked The Lone Ranger a lot, and The Cisco Kid – all those cowboy things. My mum loved the cinema, and some Saturdays she'd go to the pictures while I watched [BBC police drama] Dixon Of Dock Green with my Dad.

Was there a cartoon you loved?

The Flintstones. I have four brothers,

Yabba dabba doo: Fred was a firm family favourite

Cop classic: Nothing better than an iconic police drama and they were always going round shouting, "Yabba dabba doo!"

What shows do you like to chill out and unwind with?

I like Adam Henson on Countryfile. And I've enjoyed Clarkson's Farm. I didn't like him much when he was talking about cars [laughs], but this series is funny, with a good message.

Is there a TV personality you admire?

I think Stephen Graham's worth watching, whatever he's in!

Gripping: Suranne Jones stars in the suspenseful Vigil

If you could choose to be in another programme, what would it be?

I've loved showing people how beautiful the Cotswolds is. My great interest is wildlife, which I grew up surrounded by – but much of it has since gone. So to be able to do something to restore the balance, to appeal to people to do small things that make a difference – that would be nice.

MIDSOMER MURDERS | ITV SUNDAY

Dicing with DEATH

THE BOSS OF A BOARD GAME EMPIRE COMES A CROPPER IN THE MIDST OF A TERRIBLE STORM...

PHOTOS: GETTY

DCI John Barnaby (Neil Dudgeon) and DS Jamie Winter (Nick Hendrix) – ably assisted by Chief Pathologist Dr Fleur Perkins (Annette Badland) – are back on the case with a brand-new Midsomer mystery.

A birthday celebration has deadly consequences after the family behind successful board game empire Karras Games gathers to mark the 70th birthday of head honcho Victor (Stuart Milligan). His pregnant wife Eleanor (Rachael Stirling) invites their nearest and dearest for a murder mystery weekend at an imposing manor house on its own island, where a terrible storm is brewing – with the game taking a very real and grisly turn after Victor is impaled by a life-sized Egyptian statue while tumbling down the stairs...

Barnaby and Winter are called to the island, where they end up marooned after the storm prevents anyone leaving – but as their investigation reveals Victor's death was no accident, who's to blame for his dramatic demise?

Ade Edmondson – whose Midsomer alter ego Hugo Welles (married to Helen, played by Caroline Quentin) reckons himself quite the sleuth – gives us a clue...

Hello Adrian! So does Hugo reckon he can crack this case before Barnaby?

Hugo's an unsuccessful actor who's found a niche in presenting Murder Mystery Weekends, and always plays the detective.

He's bumptious, pedantic and vain – and believes his sleuthing abilities are much better than any real detective's!

The real deal: After a suspicious death, the real detectives are called in to help

Had you worked with Caroline Quentin before?

Though we've been in the same business for 40 years, we've not worked together before. But we're so familiar with each other that we formed a sympathetic relationship. We have a similar sense of humour, so we laughed a lot.

Have you ever ended up stranded somewhere due to freak weather, like the Karras party does?

I live on Dartmoor and have often been cut off during the winter. The longest period was three days, just myself and my youngest daughter. We huddled round the fire and had a rather jolly time of it. It felt like a proper adventure!

Would you live in Midsomer?

If it existed, I wouldn't want to live there, but I did once stay in a cottage that had been used as a Midsomer location – there was a steady stream of people lined up outside to have their picture next to it!

Your move: When a board game mogul is killed, there's a whole host of suspects

CELEBRITY CATCHPHRASE ITV 6.30PM

Stephen Mulhern hosts another celebrity special of the classic game show, in which contestants are shown slow-reveal images that represent a well-known phrase or saying. (Okay, so 'seahorse' isn't exactly a phrase, but we love playing along all the same!) Tonight's excellent line-up of players consists of fashion guru Gok Wan, actor, writer and film-maker Kathy Burke, and comic and reigning Strictly champ Bill Bailey, who'll be saying what they see the unintentionally iffy Mr Chips doing for the chance to win £50,000 for their chosen charity. Let's hope they do better than Jimmy Carr, Paralympian Ellie Simmonds and actress Fay Ripley. Just don't mention "pirate DVDs"...

ELTON JOHN: THE RED PIANO Channel 4 11.20PM

Originally scheduled to be 75 shows but ending up being 247 (!), The Red Piano saw Elton John at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas for a mammoth residency. This show sees Elt perform many of the hits from his equally enormous repertoire.

THE SPICE GIRLS AT THE BBC BBC2 9PM

When the Spice Girls' self-penned debut track Wannabe was released 25 years ago, the record label was worried that it was too anarchic; BBC Radio 1 refused to play it, and DJ Chris Evans told the band to go and do kids' TV. Said single went on to spend seven weeks at No. 1 in the UK, was a top 5 hit in the US, and made global megastars of its five members. This special highlights show revisits a selection of performances on the Beeb over the years by the iconic girl band.

THE MATING GAME BBC1 8PM

This new five-parter sees Sir David Attenborough explore nature's ultimate quest: to find a partner. The series – filmed over six continents – brings us the most dramatic, surprising and even comical sexual strategies to be found in the animal world (note: footage does not include a Basildon club on a Saturday night). “The equipment they have for mating displays, all the feathers, the paraphernalia – how impressive they can be,” shares Sir David. The opener takes us to the grasslands – from the zebra stallions on the Serengeti to the nursery web spider, who tricks his way into a lady spider's affections by way of phoney gifts. But the most prolific is the termite queen, who can create half a billion offspring. Ooof.

MORTIMER & WHITEHOUSE: GONE FISHING BBC2 8PM

For their final episode, Bob and Paul are on Worcestershire's River Severn to fish for Zander. Later, they head down the banks to a secluded beach, just as their guest arrives – self-confessed fishing addict, This Country's Charlie Cooper.

SORRY, I DIDN'T KNOW ITV 10.20PM

The comedy panel show in which two teams take us on an eye-opening tour of global Black history is back for a new series. Jimmy Akingbola presides over the sides – headed by Chizzy Akudolu and Judi Love – who battle it out over four rounds to reveal some fascinating historical facts. Tonight, it's the turn of Reginald D Hunter, Russell Kane, Fatiha El-Ghorri and Dane Baptiste to take us all on a tour of British Black history. Entertaining and educational.

Good Eggs!

THE LONG-RUNNING QUIZ HAS A NEW NEST, AS HOST JEREMY VINE AND PLAYERS JUDITH KEPPEL AND PAT GIBSON TELL INSIDE TV...

EGGHEADS Channel 5
6.30PM

Hi all! How has the move to Channel 5 been?

Judith I've loved recording in Hammersmith – and the set is exactly the same...

Jeremy It's as if Channel 5 is holding a Ming vase and not dropping it! They've transplanted it exactly as it was – and it's fantastic.

What is it about the show's format that makes it so popular?

Jeremy You know, it's just questions and answers! We're such a quizzing nation.

Judith I think we're seen as invincible, so those who come in think it's worth trying to beat us.

Pat And no matter how smoothly the Eggheads are doing, calamity can arise unexpectedly – so there's always a little bit of tension.

How do you boost your mountain of knowledge?

Judith I read the papers, and attack certain subjects every so often. I'm about to revise tennis because of the lovely Emma Raducanu.

Pat I read the newspapers and put all the good things on a computer...

Jeremy Is it true, Pat, you have two screens in your hotel room that bombard you with random questions, even in your sleep?

Pat I've only done it a few times, as it's such a business transporting them...

Jeremy Wow, so it is true!

Do you feel pleased for teams that beat you?

Judith NO! I feel very disappointed!

Pat Some teams play really well: if they win, good luck to them.

Judith What nobody remembers is there's so much luck in it...

Jeremy Well, I'd like to know how the Eggheads win 16 shows out of 17 if it's just luck!

OUR YORKSHIRE FARM Channel 5 9PM

We're back at the hill farm with Amanda, Clive and their rapidly growing nine children for a new series, as they tackle one of the worst winters they've ever faced. Schools have shut for a second time due to the pandemic, so the kids – including eldest Raven, home from university – must juggle home learning with farm labour. And when a blizzard batters the farm, Amanda and Clive have to tend to their 1,000 sheep during the coldest January for a decade. Bless little Annie, seven, and Clemmie, five, though, who help mum out during calving season. And winter's not all bad: Miles and Edith are honing their snowboarding skills, while the three youngest girls are learning to ice skate on a frozen lake.

DEMENTIA & US BBC2 9PM

This insightful new two-parter follows four people with dementia to see how they and their families cope. Clover, who's 89, put an electric kettle on the gas hob, causing a fire. Now, her daughter Marcia must make a difficult decision about her mum's care.

MURDER ISLAND Channel 4 9.30PM

In what has to be the ultimate murder mystery weekend, top crime writer Ian Rankin has set up a murder plot on an island, which sees eight players attempt to find the 'killer' and win a £50,000 reward.

The teams of amateur tecs arrive by boat, greeted by senior investigating officer Parm Sandhu and her deputies, Simon Harding and Graham McMillan. They're then whisked off to the crime scene – an old, rundown property – where Charly Hendricks' body was found hours earlier...

Gone to Iceland

ICELAND WITH ALEXANDER ARMSTRONG
Channel 5 9PM

Alexander Armstrong knows very little about Iceland, so what better way to acquaint himself with this large rock of an island in the Atlantic Ocean than by embarking on a thousand-mile expedition across it? "It's a place quite unlike anywhere I've ever been," he announces, as this first of three episodes kicks off. "Along the way, I'll be getting hot, cold and wet – on the trail of Norse Gods, rotten sharks and some of the most expensive beer in the world!" Prior to this priciest of pints, tonight Alexander makes a particularly dramatic start to his adventure, by getting up close and personal near the rim of an erupting, and lethal, volcano...

NAKED, ALONE AND RACING TO GET HOME E4 9PM

Two pairs of total strangers strip off for a race across the countryside to find a cash prize for charity (and their clothes!) in this cheeky new series. But will blushes be spared as they near the finish line – in a busy town centre?

THE EARTHSHOT PRIZE: REPAIRING OUR PLANET BBC1 10.35PM

This inspirational new series features Sir David Attenborough and Prince William, founder of The Earthshot Prize – which encompasses five major missions to help deliver a more sustainable future for our planet. Each 'Earthshot' – protect and restore nature, revive our oceans, fix our climate, clean our air, and build a waste-free world – is investigated across five episodes via stories from around the world, before the finalists are introduced.

AUTUMN GARDENING WITH CAROL KLEIN Channel 5 7PM

As we head into autumn, gardening expert Carol Klein is back for a new series of top gardening tips from her own Devonshire digs. The colours and light change, the temperature drops, and everything slows down – except if you're a gardener, as it's harvest time! In this opener, Carol shows us the Jerusalem artichokes she's planted, which just need a few more weeks before their roots are ready for soup. "We've been here for 42 years, and inevitably everything has grown – in particular, the trees, like the cercidiphyllum. It's called the 'toffee apple tree' as it smells like burnt sugar. And its leaves colour up to a gorgeous, buttery yellow..." Carol says of autumn at Glebe Cottage.

HUNTING THE FOOTBALL TROLLS – JERMAINE JENAS Channel 4 10PM

Ex-footballer now pundit Jermaine Jenas has been monitoring the shocking rise in online abuse against Black footballers. Here, he follows the UK's only dedicated football policing unit, as they try to trace the perpetrators.

SAVILE: PORTRAIT OF A PREDATOR ITV 9PM

This new documentary explores how Jimmy Savile engineered his decades-long career and lifestyle so as to sexually abuse people – mostly children – and to escape detection of his crimes, right up until his death in 2011. The film features new testimony from victims and witnesses, and in his first-ever interview, Operation Yewtree detective Gary Pankhurst describes how Savile learned from criminals in his early DJing days how to manipulate those around him.

THE NORTH WATER
BBC2 9.30PM

Tonight sees the dramatic finale of this stunning adaptation of Ian McGuire's novel of the same name, starring Colin Farrell, Jack O'Connell and Stephen Graham. Former ship's doctor Sumner makes his return to Hull, determined to track down Baxter – owner of The Volunteer – and claim his rightful wages. However, could yet another unpleasant surprise await him? Sir Tom Courtenay, who plays the scurrilous Baxter, reckons he much

HAVE I GOT NEWS FOR YOU BBC1 9PM

Team captains Ian Hislop and Paul Merton are back with their panels of outspoken celebs – plus a star name guest host – as the topical news quiz returns for a new series, taking a sideways (and entertainingly snarky) swipe at the week's biggest headlines.

WOLFE Sky Showcase
10PM

As the adventures of eccentric pathology professor Wolfe Kinteh are rounded off with a gripping double bill tonight, the team attends the scene of a fire at a mosque. Typically ignoring all the rules, Wolfe ploughs into the building before it's declared safe, where he finds the body of the much-loved local Imam. And as it's discovered that the Imam was, in fact, murdered prior to the blaze, Wolfe's behaviour becomes increasingly unpredictable...

THE COUPLE AT NO.9 by Claire Douglas

When Saffron Cutler moves into 9 Skelton Place and sets about renovations, the last thing she expects is builders uncovering a body. The police launch a murder investigation and ask to speak to the cottage's former owner – her grandmother, Rose.

STAR CHOICE

Hollyoaks' Bobby Gordon (Toby)

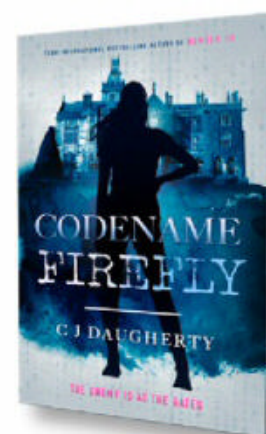

"I'm actually about to watch the last episode of Snowfall – which is a show on the BBC. It's about the crack epidemic in LA, and how potentially the government were the people supplying everything into the urban areas around LA. It's very interesting – I'd recommend that one."

DIGITAL

THE TRUFFLE HUNTERS

Deep in the forests of Piedmont, Italy, a handful of elderly men hunt for the rare and expensive white Alba truffle. They live a simple life, in harmony with their picture-perfect land, and hold something more valuable than even this prized delicacy: the secret to a rich and meaningful life.

BOOK

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

Couldn't Rainie have pulled some photos off Facebook for her flyers? Though bonus points for Max's carrot-topped clip-art baby.

Jamie Tate dead? But until we see a body we'll never believe it. In fact, even if we do see a body, we won't believe it – not after Kim faked her death with a lookalike.

Todd left a voice message for Freda. We'll say that again. Todd left a voice message for his deaf client, Freda. What a twonk.

Zeedan has come back with big guns and a bad attitude. We approve.

"I don't know how much more I can take!" wailed Chas on her ongoing pub misery. We feel exactly the same, lovey.

BULLSEYE!

We were blown away by Freda's passionate defence of deaf culture this week. Corrie has done a stunning job of dismantling prejudice and showcasing the richness of life experience in the deaf community. At the heart of it all is Ali Briggs as Freda, who turned in a raw and emotional performance. We demand she moves to Weatherfield full-time, because we want to know more.

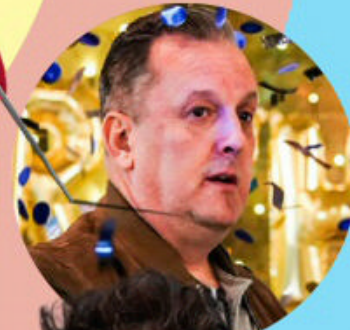

Charity was fighting for her life on Tuesday and enjoying wild booty calls with a much younger man on Thursday. Atta girl!

Martin and Zack are such a brilliant combo. More charm than a Pandora bracelet counter.

A big "Ugh" to Harvey saying racist stuff 'accidentally'. He can get in the bin.

You have to admire Ruby's brisk 'moving on from a marriage' policy. We're surprised she didn't burn the house to cinders, just so Martin could no longer enjoy walls.

A family man driven to drug crime to keep the family he loves from falling into poverty? Paddy's just a goatee away from the full Walter White in Breaking Bad.

Gail is so co-ordinated, she matches her towels to her jumpers. Truly a style icon for the ages.

David – you know you're terrible at parenting when even the mother of the man who killed your ex-wife thinks you're muffing it up.

YOU USE IT TO FACE THE DAY WE USE IT TO FACE CANCER
